GRESHAM, Otto, 10 North Clark St.; res. University Club, Chicago, Ill.
Lawyer; b. Corydon, Ind., Jan. 30, 1859; s. Judge Walter Quintin and Matilda Gresham (paternal ancestors main factors in preventing the introduction of slavery into Indiana Territory; father served in Civil War, Lt. Col. to Maj. Gen., became U. S. Dist. and Circuit Judge, served in President Arthur's cabinet as Postmaster-Gen. and Sec. of the Treasury, and in President Cleveland's second administration as Sec. of State until his death in 1895); ed. Santa Clara (Calif.) Coll., Wabash Coll. (Ind.), and Columbian Law School, Washington, D. C.; Beta Theta Pi. First admitted to Bar in Indianapolis while law student in office of Baker, Hood & Hendricks; later in Supreme Ct of D. C., Supreme Ct of Ind. and Ill. and Supreme Ct of U. S.; practically reared in Court-room as, when he was ten years old, his father was apptd by President Grant U. S. Dist. Judge for Dist. of Ind. Engaged in gen. law practice since admission to Bar. Aided mother in editing "Life of Walter Q. Gresham." Active in movement for adoption of the system of Code Pleading and wrote: "Shall Illinois Adopt the System of Code Pleading?" Secured in 1901, passage by Ill. State Bar Assn of a resolution favoring adoption by Ill. of that system, and as chmn of the Com. apptd under that resolution wrote Com. Report, submitted at 1902 meeting, based on Blackstone's declaration that "if the Common Law judges had interpreted the Act of Parliament, passed in 1285, providing for the writ of Trespass on the Case as it should have been interpreted, it would have effectually answered all the purposes of a Court of Equity," and on the showing by Lord Campbell, who, in his work, the Lives of the Lord Chancellors (vol. 1, p. 10) traces the origin of the courts of conscience to the necessity of correcting the absurdities of the Common Law Judges who, in their own courts, laid down rules utterly subservient of justice," and

Gresham's report contended that right and justice, instead of English technicalities, should prevail in the Court room. He disclaims all responsibility for it, but in the Municipal Court of the City of Chicago, organized in 1907, the rule of Blackstone and Campbell prevails. In Ill. Bar Assn, 1923 meeting, he was able to point to the report of the Am. Law Inst., organized under the auspices of the Am. Bar Assn, Feb. 23, 1923, that there was so much uncertainty, confusion and conflict as well as voluminous decisions by the Courts of last resort of the United States that even the lawyers at the top, like Elihu Root, could not tell what the law is, as demonstrating the necessity of codification to secure simplicity and certainty in the law, and for action by the people themselves through their Legislature, instead of leaving it to a Committee of the Am. Law Inst. to write the substantive law of the land for our higher Courts. Was atty for the first Soc. of Social Hygiene organized in the world. Wrote "The Executive Power," also review of Duran's "John Bull and his Lawyer," in Chicago Legal News, Jan., 1923. Mem. Chicago Bd of Edn; trustee Wabash Coll. Mem. Am. Bar Assn, Ill. Bar Assn, Chicago Bar Assn, Ind. Bar Assn. Recreation: Farming. Clubs: University (Chicago); University (Indianapolis). C., 1900, Mrs. Sallie B. (Bird) Smith; children: Lucien B., Willard C., Charles B., Jr., Elizabeth B., Mary H. Served in Co. A, 29th Miss. Regt, C.S.A., Lt, Comdg Co., battle of Franklin (wounded), and in 8 other battles and numerous skirmishes. Admitted to Bar, 1867; practised Oxford, Miss., 1867-74, St. Louis, Mo., 1874-78, Oxford, Miss., 1878-93. Co. atty, Lafayette Co., Miss., 1870; U. S. Dist. Atty, Northern Dist., Miss., 1885-89; Asst Atty-Gen., U. S., 1893-97; Judge U. S. Ct of Claims, 1897-1915; chmn Bd of Arbitration N. Y. Central R. R. Lines, and eleven other railroads and certain Labor Unions, Chamber of Commerce, New York, 1916. Counsel in many important cases as practitioner, 1867-93; among them Wright vs Bircher, 72 Mo. 179, which established doctrine of Equitable Mortgage in Mo. law; Smith vs Carroll Co. Miss. 111 Supreme Ct, 556, plaintiff bought Co. bonds in aid of railroad which was never built, and Miss. Supreme Court's construction of State Const provision requiring ratification of such bonds by two-thirds vote meant two-thirds voting. On appeal U. S. Supreme Ct reversed Miss. Supreme Ct, on ground that decision of highest State Court of State was not binding on Supm Ct U. S. when in conflict with previous decisions of Federal Supreme Ct, when rights affected were acquired before the State decision; in State of Miss. vs Robert Lamar, 63 Miss. 266, murder conviction and death sentence reversed for error in instructions because though Court had given instruction broadly stating a general principle of law, it had refused to give another instruction embodying the same principle in specific application to the facts in evidence; second conviction limited by jury's recommendation to sentence of imprisonment for life, was on appeal reversed (64 Miss. 430) because of error of instruction which said that the presumption of malice arising from proof of killing with deadly weapon could only be overcome by evidence "to the satisfaction of the jury" which practically put upon the defendant the onus of satisfying the jury of his innocence; third trial resulted in acquittal; Hall vs Lafayette County was a case against the sureties (among whom was the U. S. District Judge) on the general bond of the County Treasurer. The code prescribed that a separate bond should be given for school funds in the treasurer's hands. The petition at law against the sureties was dismissed on demurrer filed by Charles B. Howry for the sureties (68 Miss. 719) but in a subsequent suit in equity the sureties were held liable for the amount of the embezzlement (69 Miss. 529), advancing the doctrine that equity would correct a mistake of law which, whatever the principle, had no application where the sureties had no knowledge of or connection with the mistake. As asst Atty-Gen. Judge Howry in 1893 placed in charge of a docket of more than 10,000 cases as counsel for Govt under an Act of March 3, 1891 (26 Stat. L, 851), one of the provisions was, in substance, that in all "allowed" cases (i.e., cases investigated by the Interior Dept subsequent to July 1, 1885, and allowed) unless such action was reopened either by the claimant or defendant, judgment should be awarded for the sum allowed. There were jurisdictional conditions that at the time of the depredation (a) the tribe, band or nation to which the depredating Indians belonged must have been in amity with the U. S., and (b) the claimant must have been a citizen of the U. S.; in earlier adjudications under the act these jurisdictional requirements were not considered applicable to "allowed" claims, but Judge Howry raised the question entering motions to set aside judgments in all cases where it was found that non-amity or alienage might be a defense, and contended that the limitation of two years in which to file a motion for a new trial was limited to claimants and did not apply to U. S. Decision of Court of Claims. In Jarif L. Sanderson vs The U. S. and Cheyenne Indians, this contention was affirmed by Supreme Court (210 U. S. 168) and swept from the docket hundreds of cases involving large sums of money; Stone vs U. S. (164 U. S. 180) was an appeal from dismissal by Ct of Claims of a petition because of laches and inaction in method of presenting a claim which was only supported by the testimony of the claimant himself, Supreme Ct deciding that trial court had not, as claimed, laid down an arbitrary rule of evidence. Numerous briefs as Asst Att-Gen. appear in Court of Claims and U. S. Supreme Ct reports from 1893 to 1897. Opinions as Judge Ct of Claims appear in Vols 33 to 50 Ct of Claims. Reports, many of these being decisions of first impression, or important pronouncements as in decision regarding illegal collections of taxes defining when the words "absolutely vested" and "in possession or enjoyment" applied to the beneficiaries of an estate Benjamin F. Jones, Jr, Admr vs U. S., 49 C. Cls 408, affirmed in 236 U. S. 106; in Collins & Farwell, 34 C cls. 294, and 35 C. cls 122 U. S., liability of U. S. to pay contractor for extra work thrown upon him by mistake of the engineer in charge of work; Miller 39 C. cls 335 involving right of a party to recover value of improvements upon land settled upon in good faith but later found to constitute part of a military reservation, and another important ruling that where the six years limitation for such claims was six years after eviction, but a subsequent law was passed for relief of the settlers, the statute of limitations does not begin to run until application is made for payment under such subsequent legislation (34 C. cls 335, 340); Philippine Sugar Estates Development Co. (39 C. cls 225; 40 C. cls 38) deciding that provision admitting aliens to sue in Ct of Claims only where their own Govt would recognize a similar right on the part of an American citizen, made no difference between natural persons and corporation, or between those residents in the mother country or any of the colonies; also reviewed question as to nature of title acquired by U. S. vs the Philippine; Terry (39 C. cls 353); Cromwell (42 C. cls 432) Judge Howry decided (42 C. cls 436) that the Naval Personnel Act established a general purpose to raise deficiencies in the pay of navy officers rather than to decrease the compensation previously fixed for duties peculiar to the sea and marine service; Ayres, (42 C. cls 385, 44 C. cls 48, 110) upholding the view that a special Act of Congress authorizing the Court to find the facts in regard to a certain claim against the U. S. and the Chickasaw Nation, involved the power to render judgment and give reasons for a decision (44 C. cls 79); Brigs "Fanny" and "Hope" (45 C. cls 214) is a most comprehensive decision on the whole class of claims known as French Spoliation Claims, with conclusion: "The Spoliation claims as a class were valid obligations from France to the United States and our Government surrendered them to France for a valuable consideration benefiting the Nation and this use of the claims raised an obligation founded upon right"; Barnes (46 C. cls 7), and Hood (46 C. cls 30, 49 C. cls 669) were cases of damage to mill property by erection of a dam by the Govt against claimant's mills. The question as to what constitutes a taking of property for the use of the Govt had been a matter of much debate and diversity of opinion, and after complete examination of authorities the value of the land submerged was allowed, some incidental damage being refused. KALISCH, Hon. Samuel, 738 Broad St., Newark, N. J.

Jurist; b. Cleveland, Ohio, April 12, 1851; s. Isidor (D. D.) and Charlotte (Bankman) Kalisch; father, of Prussian birth, was a Jewish rabbi of distinguished scholarship; early edn largely at home; proficient in Greek and Latin at 12; att. public schools, Lawrence, Mass., and Detroit, Mich.; LL.B. 1870, Columbia; m. Newark, N. J., April 26, 1877, Caroline E. Baldwin. Read law in office of William B. Guild, Jr.; admitted to practice in N. J. Bar, as atty, 1871, and as counselor, 1874. In practice at Newark, became identified with many notable cases in which he won success in criminal defence; first lawyer in N. J. to obtain release of a convict from a State prison after conviction on a habeas corpus writ; later turned to civil practice. City atty of Newark, 1875; counsel for Am. Protective Assn, 1877-79; appeared for labor organizations in several important litigated suits. Twice Dem. candidate for Assembly and once for Senate, but not elected, dist. being Republican. Apptd by Gov. Wilson as Asso. Justice Supm Ct and was assigned by the conf. of Judges to Jud. Circuit comprising Atlantic, Cape May, Cumberland. At that time common rumor charged widespread corruption in the tolerance of fraudulent fleecing of visitors to Atlantic City and that the grand juries drawn by the Sheriffs refused to indict the swindlers. Judge Kalisch appearing upon the bench, faced a Grand Jury selected by the Sheriff and on examination became convinced that the jury was hand picked and that the drawing of the panel had not been according to the law; he, therefore, disqualified the Sheriff and apptd two Elisors to draw a new panel. The State had never heard of an Elisor in N. J., but the Judge had his authority in a century-old and forgotten statute: result, numerous indictments and many convictions. Author: Memoir of Rev. Dr. Isidor Kalisch, 1886; also of poems, essays, sketches of travels, etc. Mem. Am. Bar Assn, N. J. State Bar Assn (pres. 1909), N. J. Hist. Soc., Soc. Med. Jurisprudence (New York), Am. Acad. Judge of Otsego Co., serving 1908-17; resigned (having been elected Justice of Supm. Ct for 6th Jud. Dist. from Jan. 1, 1918, still serving); mem. Conv. created 1921 by Legislature to revise Judiciary articles of State Constn which reported to Legislature, Dec. 1921; and of Conv. authorized by Legislature to make and draft rules for Supreme Ct of N. Y. to conform with new Civil Practice Act, report of which was made to Legislature, 1922, and its suggestions enacted into law. As practitioner specialized in negligence cases with State reputation for success; among notable cases prosecuted Cornell case to successful termination in U. S. Circuit Ct of Appeals, an action prosecuted against the bankrupt for fraud on account of purchase of goods and merchandise amounting to thousands of dollars just prior to filing of petition in bankruptcy and a pioneer case in that respect soon after the new Bankruptcy Act came in force in 1898. Retained by successive Atty-Gens. from 1900 to fight violations of Pure Food Laws of New York. In three years designated in 52 cases, tried 27 cases for the State before juries in several different counties, and won every one; one case People vs Anton Coster was a record case in which was designated by the State to try the action and to obtain rulings on Constl and other questions never settled in State Cts and of vital importance to enforcement of pure food laws. One of these was question of cumulative penalties and if they were recoverable under Agriculture Laws; obtained very large cumulative verdict and secured its affirmance in Appellate cts with every question decided in favor of the State. As Justice of Supreme Ct has made many decisions which have attracted attention, notably in so-called Sidney Strike Case (Julius Kayser Co. vs Fitzgerald), 100 Misc. 27. Served in 3rd Separate Co., N.Y.S.N.G., Oneonta, N. Y., 1881-90, Oneonta Fire Dept, 1891-1908. Has delivered hundreds of addresses, political, patriotic, ednl, civic, religious. Mem. Am.
